Prior Employments: Lecturer in biology in a GIC, PGT Biology in a Navodaya Vidyalaya on deputation

Positions Held

I have served as a lecturer in Biology in a GIC under Govt of Uttarakhand for about 10 years followed by 2 year stint as a PGT in Biology in a Navodaya Vidyalaya on deputation. Therefrom I got selected by UPHEs Commission, Allahabad, to serve as an assistant professor in Botany at DAV College, Kanpur where I am giving my services currently.

Publications

There are not much publications to my credit. I had been a civil services aspirant and have faced interviews many times for the same clearing prelims and mains exams but, final selection remained elusive. However, I have published two research papers while pursuing my doctorate from University of Allahabad. Since here at DAV College, I have published book chapters in two international books.

DR VINOD KUMAR DUBEY

Assistant Professor, Botany

Awards, Fellowships, Grants

Junior Research Fellowship and NET by Council of Scientific and Industrial Research. After two years, upgraded for Senior Research Fellowship of the same organization.

Conference Presentations

I have participated in many national and international conferences, but only to get enlightened. However, I have made presentation in one of the conferences with recognition.

Fields of Interest

Molecular Biology, Biochemistry, Microbiology, Floristics, Environmental Sciences, Taxonomy

Languages known

I am ambidextrous in Hindi and English languages. People and my colleagues say that I have cultivated a linguistic genre of my own kind in English writing.

Volunteer Experience

During my stint as a lecturer in a GIC in a remote and idyllic setting of hill state of Uttarakhand, I had volunteered free coaching to students. They are all employed and are earning decent livelihood.

Computer Skills

I have innovative edge in computer applications. In my current college as a faculty, I had developed a google drive based real time and seamless information sharing ICT platform for monitoring of online teaching activities during covid forced lockdown and work from home period on being asked by my principal. The principal, through a link on the home-screen of his smartphone could poke into live class of any faculty through this platform. It was quite simple and cost free.

Hobbies

To tour natural sites for recreation, to play simple games, cycling etc

Aspirations of Serving in an HEI

To author excellent quality books on various aspects of life sciences for the benefit of the posterity. These shall be written in the manner the concepts revealed to me as a learner so that these hit the very core of conceptual glitches that the learners face. These books shall not only be the source of authentic information but they shall lucidly explain the causes underlying the facts.
